

Gold Coast: Enjoying Australia's Eastern Beauty

An area of glittering golden beaches, contemporary buildings, international theme parks, vibrant nightlife, and truly sensational surfing, Australia's Gold Coast – the birthplace of the bikini – is a must-visit location.

This 43 mile strip of coastline at the south of Brisbane stretches to Coolangatta on the border of New South Wales, and is a region renowned as the epicentre of Australian entertainment. Anyone seeking out Australia's lively side will find everything they need to have a good time right on their doorstep, bathed beneath 300 days of sunshine a year.

Places to visit

The Gold Coast's main city is Surfers Paradise – an appropriate name reflecting the region's favourite sport. Here, you'll find endless opportunities for shopping, eating and nightlife, amidst towering modern high rise apartment blocks that fringe sparkling sands.

Things to do

There never need be a dull moment on a visit to the Gold Coast. Beach-based watersports such as surfing and snorkelling are plentiful here. Broad Beach is the place to take on giant waves, while keen divers can explore the shipwreck and ocean life off the coast of Main Beach.

Burleigh Heads is a great location for anyone looking to learn to surf – and if you don't take to the water like a fish, there's plenty of opportunity to explore the beautiful beach and national park here instead.

Theme parks are plentiful along the Gold Coast, with Sea World, Wet 'n' Wild Water World, Warner Bros Movie World, Dreamworld and more besides.

Shopping facilities can be found in markets, malls and boutiques, and when the sun sets the city takes on a new tone, with high class nightclubs, bars and restaurants beckoning. Foodies will be pleased to know there are over 500 eateries on the Gold Coast. The area also boasts a budding wine industry, helped along by fertile soils and the fabulous climate.

Further afield

Get away from the hustle and bustle and travel inland to the west for an adventure into World Heritage national parks, with rich natural rainforests to explore. National parks within easy reach include Main Range, Nightcap, Lamington and Border Ranges. Away from the busy coast there is the opportunity to learn about ancient Aboriginal culture and customs too.

Relocating to the Gold Coast

The hive of activity surrounding the Gold Coast makes this area a prime candidate for relocation – particularly for anyone looking for a career in the tourist industry. The climate here is warm all year round, not dipping below 21 degrees Celsius in the day and 10 degrees at night on average, even during the winter months. It is worth noting that due to its popularity, facilities and attractive year-round climate, this is one of the most expensive areas of Australia in which to live.

If you are considering migrating here from overseas it helps to have an understanding of the visa process, which can be quite complex. There are specialist migration companies such as <http://truebluemigration.com/> who are able to explain and assist you during the process.

The Gold Coast offers everything from stunning modern architecture to glistening sands, as well as providing a gateway to inland areas of natural beauty. Water sports, theme parks and epic shopping trips can be washed down with a large glass of local wine, all beneath the year-round sun.